1. INTRODUCTION

Usually the collectors have only the “naked” plumb bob (with the original string or sometimes with a wooden box for mining plummets) in their collection displayed. But the plumb bobs were sold not “naked” and were carried by the workers in special holders. Some types of package were for the time between “birth” and selling (as oiled paper, and blister pack), some could also be used by the worker later (as cardboard, plastic boxes and sheaths). Especially for the storage during the use of the plumb bobs are made the wooden dovetailed boxes of the mining plummets. Some of this equipment I will show you this time.

Most of the pictures are from my own collection, some from Fellow Collectors and some from unknown sources.

If YOU know some more, please let me know for an update of this newsletter.

2. OILED PAPER

The simplest protection against corrosion is oiled paper. This kind of protection I found when I visited the factory of Gampper in Germany. It is only to protect the iron plumb bobs against rust until they are sold.

3. CARDBOARD BOXES

Very often the plumb bobs are packed in the quantity of one or more in cardboard boxes. This is to protect the tool and also to print information about the plumb bob as size, material, quantity, maker, instruction, patent # etc.

Usually a rectangular box is used, but I found a very special box from China:

- Patent GB1908 00163 CARTER
  - Gyrostatic plumb bob

Patent US953131 FERRIS 1910
- shaft centering for plumb bobs
Some other US cardboard boxes
4. BLISTER PACK

For a good presentation in a shop the plumb bobs are put in a blister pack. They hold together the plumb bob and the line and you can hang it on a supermarket shelf.

5. PLASTIC MATERIAL

I found plastic boxes, but they are not good for the heavy plumb bobs and sharp tips: Often the box is damaged after short use:

The well known BARBARA, BRANDI and ROBERT are presented in a plastic tube.

6. STAND IN A STORE

For presentation in the store stands were designed with the name of the maker etc. See the BLUE GRASS stand in the collection of Joel Hodapp or a wooden DIETZGEN stand.

7. PRESENTATION BOX

To give the plumb bob as a present different boxes are use.

8. WOODEN BOXES

The wooden boxes are used for tall and heavy plumb bobs and for instruments. We know this kind for MINING PLUMMETS and the very nice plumb bobs of LEISTNER and HEIMBACH. See pictures below from the collection of Nelson Denny †.

Not only tall plumb bobs are stored in wooden boxes, also some small ones like the PERFECTION are protected by wooden containers.

The level and compass of German mining surveyors are stored in wooden boxes to avoid electric sparks in the mines. From my collection.

In most cases the boxes are exactly adapted to the size of the plumb bob:

The KEEN KUTTER plumb bob in the wooden box is also well known and is similar to the PERFECTION above.

ND PATENTED W. L. BERGEN PLUMB BOB AND HOLDER

Patent US266671 1882

ND 15 lbs 684 BRIDGEBUILDERS
9. CONTAINER OF TIN OR BAKELITE
The very common GENERAL 800 plumb bob is often sold in a tin container.

The Russian Army has this BAKELITE container for the very tiny double plumb bob.

10. SHEATHS
On the building plot the workers need the plumb bob. To not get lost or making holes in the pocket they wear it in SHEATHS. I am sure you have some of them in your collection. They have different systems to hold the plumb bobs.

A craftsman, with plumb bob and basket of tools nearby, talks with his wife outside their dwelling. Because each was a virgin when they married, their psychic bond is strong and enduring, and they will be able to weather life’s storms together.
